

ANOTHER PERFECT DAY

The sun is up so clear and bright
And it's all very green
It's just another, another perfect day
The postman comes, the dustman goes
And the wheel is in spin
And here we roll, here we roll again
The pint of milk, the scattered clouds
Everything is perfectly in place
But my eyes are sore, my head just twirls
And I can't find my left shoe
So I ignore the mirror when I wash my face

I need a crack of thunder
A little nature blunder
This never dying hunger
For just a taste of wonder
It's just another, another perfect day

Rains will fall and plants will grow
But it's all machinery
And everything has a reason why
The sun is up so clear and bright
And it's all very green
But I think I'll take another nap

I need a crack of thunder
A little nature blunder
This never dying hunger
For just a taste of wonder
I need a crack of thunder
Am I a fool? I wonder
It's just another, another perfect day
